ABOUT ME

I am a recent graduate from North Dakota State University with a B.A. in economics looking to enter the corporate world. I have classroom experience using data analysis software to employ programming languages such as R, SQL, and Matlab. I am self-taught in using Tableau and am currently learning to code using GitHub. Additionally, I am working on the Azure fundamentals learning path with a goal of passing the AZ-900 exam. I am passionate about creating a solid network of business professionals, and am ultimately seeking job opportunities across the globe analyzing data and fostering a globally present workplace.
